

American Chemical Society, Sacramento Section

and

Joseph Crisologo

present

“When you see a fork in the road, take it.”
My career pathway and the lessons learned.

Every individual charts their own path in their career. Decisions are made, some predetermined and some as a reaction to external factors and new information. Joseph will address the group and talk about his career pathway and suggest ideas and observations to help the audience in their own pathway considerations.

Joseph has a B.S in Chemical Engineering and MBA degrees. He has over 32 years of experience serving the State of California as an engineer in the areas of hazardous waste management, drinking water management, public health, homeland security and emergency management. Joseph left the State service last year as a District Engineer and a Senior Homeland Security Engineer.

Thursday, May 6th 2021
4-5 pm
Free registration here

